EDITH,
The Quaker's Daughter.
A TALE OF PURITAN TIMES.
BY ONE OF HER DESCENDANTS
12 mo. cloth. Price $1,25.
A more charming tale has rarely made its ap pearance in any country The scene is laid in Boston, at the time of the religious persecution of the Quakers by the Puritans, and this circum stance adds very great interest to a tale which does not require any such accompaniment, but whose in trinsic qualities are such as to fasten the readers attention and deeply move his sympathies, as well as enforce an admirable moral lesson
We add a paragraph from the book itself
The world is aware that the early history of the Quakers in New England bears a page in her rec ords which the descendants of our Puritan ances tors would gladly seal forever from the eyes of men The time of these occurrences is yet too re cent, for justice to either party to be awarded—The consciousness of a cruel intolerance on the one hand and the remembrance of wrong on the other, are yet too fresh in the minds of their des cendants and years must pass away before either can regard the other with impartiality But our historians and others should remember that the plot is only made deeper through attempts to ex cuse those deeds of cruelty which these representa tions of their victims and it becomes the duty of every faithful reporter of those times to de pict their characters with impartiality to the to the motives which influenced We trust that the time is not far distant when the spirit that still characterizes New England men especially her clergy will give place to a more enlightened feeling, worthy of our brotherhood
But let us remember that this was when the Quakers were the persecuted and evil doers and down by the majority and all their peculiarities are to disappearing. It is our sighed their principles remain

The Danger of Submitting Too Long.

In a recent article upon the present condition of the great controversy, the New York Times remarks that there is one point of view, especially from which those who discourage every attempt to check the aggressions of Slavery, would do well to regard the subject. There is already an intense dislike of Slavery in the Northern States; the Abolitionists proper, constitute even now a party formidable in numbers, and still more formidable in zeal and energy. But they have been checked and kept under by the conservative feeling, which has seen in the ballot-box a sufficient remedy for the evils of Slavery aggression, and which has been content to put forth its efforts in the strictest conformity with the spirit of the Constitution. If it shall be met in a proper spirit of justice and good faith, this feeling may still be relied on to check the growth of the wilder and more impulsive Anti-Slavery sentiments which have already taken deep root among us.

"But (says the Times) it is not in human nature to endure everything; and there will be found a limit to Northern conservatism in this respect. If Slavery is to go on forever with such strides toward supreme domination, as it has been taking for a few years past;—if all departments of the Federal Government are to be placed under its control;—if the Executive patronage is to be wielded exclusively for its benefit;—if honor, justice and faith are to be trampled under foot at its behest, and the whole territory of the Union abandoned to its control;—if the Federal Courts are to be surrendered to its authority, and State Sovereignty made subordinate to its dictation;—unless there is to be some limit, to this steady march of Slavery towards supreme control over the Republic, all conservatism will disappear and the whole Free States will be driven to the open ground of Abolition. It is a mistake to suppose that such victories as those Slavery has recently achieved, contribute to peace.—They exasperate public sentiment, and plant still deeper in the public heart hatred of the power from which it suffers such injustice and has so much more to dread."

The Question for the Court.

The committee of the Legislature, which had under consideration the questions agitated in the Constitutional amendments, has, as we have before stated, declared by a majority vote, that the Legislature is the only tribunal authorized by the Constitution to declare the adoption of amendments to that instrument—and that the Governor and Council has no right to do so. This opinion is what was expected, of course, from a majority of that committee, constituted as it was in a partizan shape. Nobody expected anything else from it; and nobody expects anything else than the adoption of the Report by the Legislature. A minority of the committee think differently, however, and the minority of the Legislature will see differently, without doubt.

As to the probable soundness of the opinions, either way, we do not propose to speak. But the people of the State will understand that the decision of a committee of the Legislature, or of the Legislature itself, is of no force whatever upon a constitutional question, and that the announcement of that opinion does not in any degree aid in the decision of the question which has been raised, and which is an important practical question to all the citizens of the State who are in any manner affected by judicial process which passes through the hands of any of the Sheriffs or their officers. That question is one which the Supreme Court and the Supreme Court alone can decide; and it is a question which ought to be decided at once, without waiting for the dilatory proceedings in a case at law.

The Governor and Council or the Legislature either or both of them, have the express power under the Constitution, to obtain the opinion of the Court, at any time within a fortnight of the propounding of the question. They have had it thus in their power for nearly two months, to settle the whole matter promptly and finally, and they have yet refused to do it. They now present a mere Legislative opinion on the subject, which is of no more vital force or effect than would be the opinion of a school district committee. The matter is still in doubt, with the decision of one Justice of the Supreme Court standing directly in opposition to the opinion of the Legislative Committee. That decision can only be overruled by the Court itself.

Thus while the risk of illegal execution of precepts is every day accumulating, the coalition at Augusta refuses to move a step towards any authoritative decision of the matter. In this state of things, a correspondent in Washington county suggests that the people should petition their servants at Augusta, to execute their duty to the premises. If they may be made in this manner, to take the proper course before adjournment, a much earlier decision would be had, and the people the sooner relieved of doubt and danger.

ECCLESIASTICAL.—The Cambridge Chronicle announces that the Rev. G. W. Field, of Brewer, has received an unanimous call from the Congregational Church in Prospect street, Cambridgeport, to become their pastor.

Mr. Field had received several calls from churches abroad, but it is hoped he will remain in our vicinity. He is a very able and effective preacher.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE GOVERNOR.—Dr. M. R. Ludwig and George Crawford, Esq., (the former in the place of Hon. Edward Robinson, resigned,) have been appointed Commissioners to close up the affairs of the late Warden of the State Prison, and transfer the effects to Wm. Bennett, Esq., present Warden.

J. Wingate Cass, Esq., is one of the Deputies appointed by Sheriff Wilson.

SUPREME COURT.—In the case of the indictment against Bangor, for a defective bridge at Drummond's Mills, whereby the boy Elais was drowned in 1853, the jury returned a verdict against the city. Fine to be assessed by the Court. In this case, after argument for the city by the City Solicitor, Mr. Wakefield, and for the heirs of the boy by Abraham, Sanborn, Esq., his honor Judge Hathaway remarked that it was one of the most aggravated cases of defect that had ever been brought before him, and if any case ever deserved the full penalty allowed by the law, it was this. He accordingly imposed the full fine of $1000. The City Solicitor filed exceptions to the judgment as excessive.

[The defect in the bridge in this case was the taking up of a plank by some persons employed about the mills or the foundry—and it remained up some six hours, coming only to the notice of eight or ten citizens, as appeared.]

The indictment against Joel Wilson for nuisance in obstructing a public landing at Chamberlain's ferry way in Brewer, by building a wharf on the same, was put upon trial yesterday (Thursday.)

A verdict of guilty was taken pro forma, and the case carried up on exceptions. County Attorney and Peters for prosecution. Rowe and Bartlett for defence.

Sentences were pronounced as follows: Margaret Pid, for adultery, 1 year in State Prison. John Thomas, for the assault on Mr. Averill, 60 days in county jail and to recognize in $200 to keep the peace one year.

The Court adjourned on Thursday evening, having disposed of all the indictments.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.—The Second Levee of the ladies of the Unitarian Benevolent Society, comes off this evening, (22d) at Norombega Hall. Streeter's Quadrille Band is engaged for the occasion, and there will be opportunity for all who wish, to enjoy themselves in dancing. The proceeds are to be devoted to benevolent objects, and there will undoubtedly be a large attendance.

THE NEW DISTURBANCES IN MEXICO. Two attempts at new revolutions have been recently developed,—one attempting to establish, for the third time, an imperial government, and calling to the throne the eldest son of the defeated Emperor, Don Augustine Iturbide, and in the event of his refusal, Senor Haroy Immerig, ex-Minister of State, in whose possession documents have been discovered relating to this subject.

The object of the other is to depose General Comonfort from the Presidency, and re-establish the statute laws and privileges which the Alvarez revolution demolished.

Several persons have already been banished in view of discovering the nerve in these revolutions, and among them Senor Hedoy Tamerz.

The supreme government has issued a decree subjecting Don Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna to the decision of the Supreme Court of Justice, for having sold the national lands, for not having subjected the treaty of Mesilla to the inspection of the Council, for having appropriated to himself a part of the indemnification, and for having ordered the atrocities which were committed in the war of the South at Nacheez.

The property of Santa Anna remains at the disposal of the Supreme Court, subject to the decision of the tribunal.

POISONING IN BRAZIL.—The tales of secret and slow poisoning which occupied the attention of Europe in past centuries, are now generally discredited—with or without reason, this is not the place to decide. A fact, however, which should be constantly present to every practitioner in treating diseases among the slave population of Brazil, is that under the name of feiticeiro (a Portuguese-African word, embracing the ideas of charms, philters, poison, when administered in obscure forms,) poisoning is frequently practised; and so expert are its administrators that diseases of many varieties are simulated, and every possible gradation of time may be occupied by the poison to produce its effect—so that the victim of fetiche may apparently succumb to a lingering marasmus or a violent cholic. Such art, and the Secrets with which it is practiced, supply an appropriate education, and the possession of much and exact traditional knowledge by the negroes; and it will be more easily accredited that this so, when it is known that in some parts of Brazil (and I speak with special reference to the interior of the province of San Paulo, where I now reside) there exists among the slave population a secret fraternity, analogous to the society of Thugs in India, who also consider it the discharge of a religious obligation to murder annually a certain number of persons—chosen, however, always from amongst the blacks themselves, and rarely, or never, from the families of their masters. In this society there are several grades; and the fitness of the aspirants to become acquainted with the more esoteric doctrines, is supposed to be tested by the ability with which they cause one or more deaths—often their own nearest relatives being selected, the better to prove their firmness. Here, however, poison has replaced the cord of the Thug—a not unfrequent mode of administering it is by a pinch of snuff; and there is one most authentic case of death in this way produced on the intended assassin himself, which occurred in the centre of this province. Mesmerism, which is practised by the adepts also, is supposed by some well qualified to judge, enters much into their means of exhausting vitality. It is a singular fact, that many days lingeringly, will often pertinaciously assert that such a one of their fellow-slaves is murdering them—alleging as a reason that nightly they dream of him—and the subsequent confession of the accused not unfrequently justifies the occasion. May we not explain this by the supposition that a partial reminiscence is left of the mesmeric processes to which, during sleep, they are subjected.—Medical Times.

MYERS VS. FORD AND CUMBERLAND, E. H. Co.—We understand that a telegraphic despatch has been received from Washington by some of the parties interested, stating that a case was opened before the Supreme Court of the United States, on Friday last by George F. Shepley, for the company, and would be argued by R. D. Parrish and Rufus Choate, for Messrs. Myers, the plaintiff; and that the Court adjourned until the company was to be heard by Reverdy Johnson on Monday.—Argus.

Seeds from the Patent Office.

To the Hon. Israel Washburn, Jr.:

SIR:—I take this method of thanking you for the package of seeds sent me from Washington, and to inform you, at the same time your immediate constituents and the public, the success I have had with them, and the estimate I make of them.

Almost importance, I consider the package of Canada Club Spring Wheat, from Wisconsin. This is a bald wheat, with a very thick straw, and the ear standing erect, not bending over in the least. It derives its name, I presume, from the stiffness of the straw, and the perpendicular position of the ear. This stout straw is a very valuable property in a heavy wheat. Storms of rain and violent winds made no impression upon this wheat, while the other wheat was prostrated, perhaps a dozen times, and some of it considerably injured.

I am not able to judge of the quality of the berry, for the reason that it mildewed, or rusted so bad, or worse than any wheat or other grain I had previously seen, and consequently the berry was badly pinched. The straw of a field of four bushels sowing was bright, and the berry plump, while the straw of the Canada wheat was nearly black.

This difference in the two kinds was wholly my own fault. The Canada wheat was planted about three rods from the field wheat, and the mildew was caused by the land being improperly manured for wheat.

In the spring of 1854, I prepared a piece land for beets, spading it deep, and mixing a pretty large quantity of strong manure; or perhaps I should say, manure highly charged with ammonia. The summer of 1854 was dry that I got no beets, and the manure lay very little of its strength. On this land I planted the wheat you sent me, in drills, and kept it free from weeds, the first of the season. It looked very promising up to the time when the berry was in the milk, when it so happened that we had a smart, soaking rain, which went down deep among the unfermented manure, heating up an underground laboratory, and causing the ammonia to escape, and ascend from a fermenting dunghemp. This caused the wheat to rust. But ammonia, in its secret, is not the primary cause of mildew, but comes in as a medium only. Potato tops blight by the same process.

I intend to try some experiments another year, and hope to give a better account of the mildewing process than I can now do.

The little paper of wheat, small as it was, contained three distinct kinds. The Canada, a bearded kind, with nothing to distinguish it from other kinds. I saved ears of this. The third an old acquaintance, I saved 11 heads only. It is a variety of the Black Sea Wheat, which I obtained twenty five years since, and cultivated for twelve or fifteen years. I will give you an account of this wheat in another paper.

Your obt serv't,

PHILO MORRILL.

REPUBLICANISM IN NEW JERSEY. The Newark (N. J.) Mercury says:

"Our Republican friends in other sections of the State will be glad to hear that arrangements are in progress for a representation of this District in the Informal Convention at Pittsburgh on the 22d of February. This is necessary from a variety of considerations. We should be prepared to act with the Anti-Nebraska men of the North to defeat the purposes of the Slave Oligarchy, and therefore we must be represented in their Councils. This course will have no tendency to prevent union and harmony in our State action, because that union, if it takes place, must of necessity arise from a community of principles all looking towards the welfare of the State. There are some in the State who think that this union and harmony can only be secured by ignoring the Slavery question; but it is hardly necessary for us to say that this idea is utterly chimerical. If New Jersey is carried against the Democracy this fall in the Presidential struggle, it will be done by the Anti-Nebraska element."

FAITHFUL AMONG THE FAITHLESS. The following cut from our Saturday's legislative proceedings, is being worthy of another perusal:

"Mr. Irish, of Union, by leave had a bill upon the table for the suppression of intemperance. Referred to the Committee on Judiciary."

Nearly two months have gone by since our Legislators met, mainly (as they said) for repealing "the hell of abomination;" and substituting this law framed and loved by Boy. Wells a long time ago—and nothing is done or attempted, except by the above gentleman of foreign name and patriot descendence. He moved some days since to instruct the Judiciary Committee to inquire into the expediency of a liquor bill—but hearing nothing from the Committee, he has got a bill of his own. He ought to be encouraged. Such energy has not been witnessed at Augusta this winter. When shall we see the Judiciary Committee acting upon Irish's bill? Portland Adv.

Cutting a at Night.

"The door was locked when I got home," said Tom, "and how to get in without waking up the whole house was the difficulty. I knew he'd give me a cuffing if he knew I was out after ten. The back yard was the only chance remained. There was a porch over the front door, the roof of which was but a few feet below the windows. One of them, I knew, was fastened down, and the other opened from a bedroom, which night or might not be occupied." As old maiden sister of Tom's wife had arrived on the same day, and it was very probable that she was in the room; "but I knew that the bed was in the corner farthest from the window, and hoped I should get in without awaking her, and then I had a comparatively easy thing of it. So getting a plank from a neighboring board pile, I rested it against the eave of the shed, pulled off my shoes, put them in my pocket, and then commenced up." All right so far, but I thought it necessary, in order not to arouse any suspicion in the morning, to remove the plank; so, dragging it up I threw it off the end, and down it went, with an awful clatter, on a stray dog, who had followed me for two or three squares, who immediately set up the most awful howl a whipped hound ever gave tongue to. That started half a dozen other dogs in the neighborhood barking.

A mocking bird commenced singing as if intending to split his throat at it, and an old woman, in her night clothes, with a candle in her hand, appeared at the window across the street. I knew I was safe so far as she was concerned, but if any one came to our windows, the candle gave enough light to, very probably, discover me. Nobody did come, however, and the old lady, after peering up and down the street for a minute or more, popped her head in and retired. The mocking bird kept up his eternal whistle, and it was full half an hour before it and the dog settled down, and gave me a chance to move. Creeping slowly along the wall, till I reached the window, I put my hands on the sill, sprung up, and, with my head and shoulders within, and my legs hanging out, stopped to listen. Yes, she was in that room for I could hear her breathing. After waiting for a minute, I cautiously drew up one leg, then the other, slewed them around, and putting them down to the floor, was just conscious that I had stepped on something soft and yielding, and was about withdrawing them, when another yell broke out at my feet, the old maid jumped up from her bed crying, "Murder, murder," and the dogs and the mocking bird started again. I saw through it all.—I had put my foot in it more ways than one.—A little darkey was lying on her back, under the window, and I stepped on her face, and, of course, woke her up. I decided, in a flash, what to do. The house would be roused, and I caught, to a certainty, unless I could get to my room before the governor was up. But I hadn't a moment to lose, for the little nigger was yelling, and the woman screaming, so I started for the door, made three steps, and struck a chair, (tumbled over of course,) made the awfullest racket you ever heard of, "in the dead hour of night," in a peaceable house, the nigger and the old maid screaming louder than ever; the mocking bird whistled like a steam engine, and the dogs fairly made a chorus as loud as Julien's.

I reached the door, however, swiftly and quietly opened it, and just got out in time to see the old gentleman open his door, with a candle in his hand, and came hurrying up the stairs. Not a moment was to be lost. There was a wardrobe near where I stood, and I sprung behind it. Up came the governor, reached the door, opened it, went in, and in the meantime there were all sorts of confusion and inquiry down stairs as to what was the matter. Nobody else came up, though, and from where I stood I heard every word of inquiry and explanation in the room. Of course they couldn't make much out of it. The little darkey was too frightened, and too sound asleep at the time to understand the truth, and the upshot of the business was that they concluded she had been dreaming, and the governor, after giving her a good spanking, and explaining the matter from the window to the aroused neighbors, went down to his room again.

So far, so good. I now had to go down stairs, reach the back door, unbar it, get into the yard, make for my room, which was in the second story of the back building, that stood unconnected with, and about a dozen yards from the main one. After giving everybody another half hour to settle down again I started. Boys, did you ever try to go up or down stairs at midnight, without making a noise? You may try all sort of ways, but every step is sure to crack, each with a peculiar noise of its own, and loud enough, you are certain, to wake up everybody. I had gotten near the bottom, when a little dog came trotting along the entry, towards me, yelling furiously. A supposed "come here, sir, you Zib," silenced him, for he recognized me; but the dog started the mocking bird, and the dogs in the neighborhood, having learned to take the cue, of course, all joined the chorus, for the third time.

I ran along the passage, reached the door, unlocked it, just as the governor, roused the second time, opened his door, and seeing a man escape from the house, cried "thieves!" and made a rush after me.

I was too quick for him, though, opened the door, sprang out, made for the door which opened into the room below mine, and had just reached it, when crash! within a foot of my head went a brick, and another voice, that I knew belonged to next door neighbor Tompkins, joined the governor in the cry of "thieves! murder! thieves!" I was safe, though. Rushing up stairs I shelled myself quicker than I ever did before in since, and was in bed and asleep in half a minute.

"Tom," cried the old man in a voice that would have raised a man from a fit.

I judged it prudent to wake, and jumping from my bed, raised the window, and rubbing one eye and looking particularly frightened (which I was,) asked:—

"Why, father, what's the matter?"

"There's thieves in the house. Get your gun and come down—quick!"

"He's in the room below you, Tom!" hallowed Tompkins. "I saw him as he run down, and threw a fire brick at him."

I was directed to "look out for myself. The governor stood sentinel at the door below, armed with a club, Tompkins had five minutes to collect aid from the neighbors, and in less than half that time, so thoroughly was every house alarmed, there were a dozen of men in the yard, armed with guns, pistols and stakes.

The governor led the attack. Opening the door, he called, "Come out here, you house-breaking scoundrel! If you attempt to run or resist, I'll blow your brains out! Nobody came however.

"Watch the door while I go in;" and I was told to "look sharp," and "shoot the rascal if he came up stairs." A momentary search was sufficient to satisfy everybody that the thief was not in the room.

"He's up stairs, then," cried Tompkins; "for I'll take my Bible oath he didn't pass that door!"

So up stairs they trooped; but I had lit a candle by this time, and there was no bugbear there, the strictest search, even in looking under a toothpick, didn't show the faintest trace of him. The yard was then examined, then the house, and everybody being well satisfied that he had escaped, the neighbors dispersed to their several homes, but I was appointed a sentinel for the rest of the night, and ordered not to go to sleep on my post, under a penalty of flogging.

The matter ended, on a thorough investigation next day, were two lies and the old lady's shoes and stockings. The thimble-skein was in a trunk, where it had been discovered under the bed.

LEGISLATURE OF MAINE.

TUESDAY, Feb. 19.

Senate.—The resolves declaratory of amendments to the Constitution came up for a second reading, and the question was upon passing them to be engrossed.

Mr. Barker moved to strike out all after the title, and insert certain other declaratory resolves, which he submitted, setting forth that the Constitution has been amended, as appears by report of Governor and Council.

A lengthy discussion ensued upon this motion, which was participated in by Messrs Barker, Hayden, Barnes, Shepard, Farley and Goodwin.

The amendment offered by Mr. Barker was rejected.

Mr. Shepherd moved to amend by striking out that part of the concluding paragraph which assumes to declare that the power of removal still resides in the Governor and Council.

Mr. Hayden objected to the amendment.

It was not adopted.

Mr. Barnes moved to amend by striking out of the preamble the words—"and of the report of the Governor and Council thereon."

Mr. Goodwin and Mr. Hayden opposed this amendment, and Mr. Barnes withdrew it.

Mr. Barnes moved to amend by striking out "Quarter-Master General" from the 3d and 4th lines of the 3d section.

Pending the discussion on this amendment, on motion of Mr. Thompson, the further consideration of the subject was postponed.

On motion of Mr. Barnes,

Ordered, That 700 copies of the communication of the late Governor, under date of Jan. 2, 1856, transmitting a copy of Reports of Council on the return of votes to certain amendments to the Constitution, together, with said report, be printed for the use of the Legislature.

House. Mr. Webster of Orono, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, reported leave to withdraw on the petition of Joseph Saukabasin for increase of pay. Accepted.

Bill regulating trustee process was taken up.

Mr. Dennett, of Kittery, opposed the bill, as too oppressive to debtors and their families; and on his motion, it was committed to a select committee of the House, consisting of Messrs. Dennett of Kittery, Clark of Biddeford, and Wedgewood of Cornish.

Mr. Dennett subsequently reported an amendment, which was adopted.

Mr. Foster, of East Machias, moved to postpone the bill indefinitely.

Mr Wedgewood explained the object of the bill, and the reasons for it. The bill applies to trustee process, as it operates on debtor's wages, limiting the exemption of wages from trustee process to $20 in account, and to the wages of the last month before suit, and providing that the exemption shall not apply to necessaries furnished to the debtor within three months.

Mr. Foster opposed the bill for the reason that it limits the amount of wages to be exempted, and thereby operates against the poor man.

Mr. Fuller, of Augusta, expressed himself in favor of protecting fully the wages of the debtor, for the month next before the suit may be commenced. He doubted the necessity of excepting necessaries from the exemption, as creditors have it always in their power to secure themselves by an order.

The motion to postpone indefinitely, prevailed—55 to 21.

Passed to be enacted.—Bill to increase the salary of the Register of Probate in Penobscot county, to establish a Municipal Court in the city of Portland authorizing the construction and maintaining of certain bridges on the Kennebec River.

Holloway's Pills have again triumphed over every other Medicine. Interesting Cases. Emily Walton, aged 17, of Walnut street, Cincinnati, suffered much and often from sick headaches, tottering of the limbs, numbness of the whole body, and other symptoms which very much alarmed her fond parents. The actual nature and nature of the complaint puzzled every one; it bore such a variety of aspects, and consequently there were a variety of opinions on the subject. Three months ago the sick girl could scarcely walk; but Holloway's Pills, which very quickly performed their just, for in six weeks the young lady was in possession of the most robust health, after every advice and medicine had failed. They are an excellent remedy for young ladies entering into womanhood.

Congressional News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.

The Executive documents relative to Indian disturbances on the Pacific coast, were then read, after which several bills of no general importance were passed and the Senate adjourned to Monday.

HOUSE. The House took up the subject of the election of a Chaplain, and considerable discussion took place upon it.

The proceedings connected with the subject were designated as farcical, and the hunt after the office was severely condemned.

Several gentlemen wished to have continued the order investing clergymen of all denominations to officiate alternately.

Mr. Letcher said this would answer admirably, as men were here of every shade of religion, and some of no religion at all (laughter.) Here were 10 candidates for the Chaplaincy, and on the 2nd trial to elect one, Daniel Waldo, a New York Revolutionary soldier, in the 94th year of his age, and a clergyman of the Congregational Church for more than 70 years, was chosen.

Mr. Brooks voted for Joshua R. Giddings and Mr. Spinner for Antoinette L. Brown.

The Senate resolution for filling the vacancies on the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution by the appointment of George E. Badger and Professor Felton, was passed.

Internal improvement and other bills were then introduced, including one by Mr. Denver, for the construction of a Railroad and Telegraph line to the Pacific, which was referred to a select committee of 15.

A resolution was passed providing members with the usual number of newspapers.

Adjourned to Monday.

Bronchitis, Coughs, Hoarseness.

☞ BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES, or Cough Lozenges, are made but a highly esteemed remedy for the alleviation of Bronchial affections, Coughs, Hoarseness, Asthma, Irritation of the Throat, often chronic, occasioned by cold or unusual exertion of the vocal organs in speaking or singing. Clergymen, Vocalists, Lawyers, and all PUBLIC SPEAKERS, will find them an admirable substitute for water in nothing the bronchial tubes, clearing the voice, and a valuable and efficient remedy. Containing no opium, they can be used by children freely as required. The recipe for the Troches was originally in the possession of a clergyman who had used them with success for a Bronchial affection attended with a severe cough—they were recommended to others who were benefited by the use of them, and now can be obtained of Druggists generally throughout the United States.

Messrs. JOHN I. BROWN & SON, Gentlemen—A knowledge of the manner in which the various articles of the Materia Medica were combined by you to form the "Bronchial Troches," led me, three or four years since, to adopt them in my practice. The results have been such as to induce me to continue the practice, believing them of great benefit in many affections of the Bronchial organs, Asthma, Coughs, &c. Yours, etc.,

ARNOLD'S COMBINED

FOOT-STOVE, LANTERN, AND NURSE-LAMP.

ALBERT ARNOLD having purchased the exclusive right for manufacturing and vending in Penobscot county, the above valuable invention is now prepared to offer them to the public.

As a FOOT-STOVE, it answers an excellent purpose, as it can be easily heated in less than one minute (not as they do heat in the oldest style) by the lamp which is so fitted to be an inseparable part of the stove.

As a LANTERN, it answers all the usual purposes, and is so to be secured, or get broken, as a house lamp with equal safety.

As a NURSE-LAMP, and in cases of sickness, it will be found invaluable in keeping drinks or food warm, as it will hold a pint, and burn from eight to twelve hours without being touched, and the cost of burning is but a trifle more than common lamp oil.

Price of Foot-Stove, Lantern, and Nurse-Lamp, $1 each.

Orders from Hardware Dealers and others in the trade, for the above articles, will be promptly attended to, by the inventor, at his shop, Exchange-st., Bangor.

KENNEDY'S

The Greatest of the Age!

DR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, from the worst Scrofula down to a common pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and has failed except in two. He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a running ulcer mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will cure the system of boils.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst cases of erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humors in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running in the ears and blotches in the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure healy eruptions of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ring worm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate cases of rheumatism.

Three to six bottles are warranted to cure salt-rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the very worst case of Scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have not tried all the wonderful medicines of the day as that a common weed, growing upon the pastures, and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There are no ifs nor ands about it, so try some other humbug. He has peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston, and knows the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. He gave it to children a year old, to old people of sixty, and has seen many looking children whose flesh was soft and healthy, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some who have taken it have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is bound it works gently, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very sensible feelings, but you must not be alarmed—they always disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it—on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel (of course) like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get and enough of it.

ROXBURY, Sept. 19, 1853.

This is to certify that H. H. HAY, Portland, is the duly AUTHORIZED GENERAL AGENT for my MEDICAL DISCOVERY for the STATE OF MAINE, and that he is supplied with the GENUINE, direct from my Laboratory.

Extract of a letter from Daniel Adams, Esq., of Bozardolphan, Maine.

FEBRUARY, 12th 1853.

To Rev Walter Clark, Dear Sir—The bottle of cough Mixture which I bought of you at Hopkins had the desired effect on my wife. She had been afflicted with a cough for two years—that battle entirely removed it.

From Rev. Jesse Hayes, Lewiston Falls.

REV. CLARKE—Every bottle of the Universal Cough Mixture which you sent will me, is used—and I have several applications for more. As far as heard from all have been perfectly satisfied with the medicine. One man, who had a Scrofulous standing attended with tightness of the chest and shortness of breath so that he was laid aside from business, purchased one large bottle, and before he had taken one third of it was perfectly cured, and has had no cough since. He says it is the best medicine in the world, and cannot be recommended too highly.

JESSE HAYES.

From Mr Fletcher Chase, agent for North Dixmont, Maine.

DEAR SIR—Abundant testimony of most extraordinary cures have been effected by your Universal Cough Mixture in this place. Several who had long been in the consumption standing, and there who have been declared as months without recovering any benefit have been speedily cured by the Universal Cough Mixture.

From Mrs Hubbard, Thorndike, Me.

FEBRUARY 1855.

To Rev Walter Clark, Dear Sir—This certifies that I have used one bottle of your Universal Cough Mixture for a dispersing cough and was cured in the lungs. I had previously taken several kinds of medicine, and had spent in doctors care of several physicians, without obtaining the least relief, happily your Universal Cough Mixture was recommended to me. I procured a bottle, which I began to take according to directions on the label, for which in a few days I was entirely cured.

Numerous letters have been received from the most distinguished physicians in the country, and from the professors of several medical colleges, recommending in the highest terms the value of these medicines, and their superiority over all other preparations for such complaints as the proprietor recommends. Numerous preparations of Sarsaparilla and Buchu, and various modes of preparing them have been given, all of which of course will differ according to the mode of preparation which each individual may adopt.

These medicines require considerable care in the preparation, and the employment of different menstrua in succession operation to take up the extractive matters, and, in consequence, are most frequently improperly made, and not unfrequently much impaired, if not rendered totally inert, by the injudicious and unskillful management of those unacquainted with pharmaceutical preparations. It is, therefore, of the highest consideration and importance to the public, and to the faculty that there should be standard preparations of uniform strength and possessing the most advantages. To effect this, and obviate the evil alluded to, I have made a number of experiments to ascertain the most effectual mode of extracting the virtues of the Sarsaparilla and the Buchu, and to discover the most eligible form for their exhibition. TESTIMONY FROM MAINE.

Capt. Daniel Abbott, Hallowell, Maine, July 16, 1853, says "I was taken sick one year ago last April, upon my passage from Havana to Charleston, S. C. At the latter place I took medicine and procured a physician, but for ten days could obtain no relief, no sleep or appetite. At last taking up a newspaper having your advertisement of "Hoofland's German Bitters" in it, I sent for some immediately. This was about 10 o'clock, at 11 o'clock I took the first dose, and another at 6 o'clock. The effect was so rapid on me that I had a good appetite for supper, and rested well that night, and the next day found me a well man. I have not been without your medicine since, having
